About the programme

This fundamental workshop provides participants with a proven step-by-step design process. It gives participants simple yet powerful techniques for making their courses popular, interesting, and lively.

Intended for

- Curriculum developers
- Instructional designers
- Trainers and assessors
- Human resource practitioners
- Team Leaders.

Content

- Plan instructional design projects
- Work with subject-matter experts
- Analyze learners to target course content
- Determine constraints affecting course design
- Compile a task listing
- Prioritize job tasks
- Conduct a task analysis to determine course content
- Write performance-based course objectives
- Design tests and exercises to evaluate performance
- Select the most appropriate instructional methods
- Determine the best structure and “flow” for a course
- Apply principles of adult learning
- Develop course materials (e.g. lesson plan, manual)
- Validate course design
- Evaluate course effectiveness.

Training methodology

Teaching by case studies, demonstration, group discussion and participation, probably describes the training methodology most accurately. Participants will be actively involved in the learning and be assessed on practical techniques during the programme.

Workshop outcome

On completion of the programme, participants should be able to apply the practical skills to undertake curriculum development and instructional design in their workplace environment.

As with all AICPT training programmes, we strive to effect actual change back at the workplace through effective and practical outcomes based training.
